

Filtered Water Bottle

HB611

Features

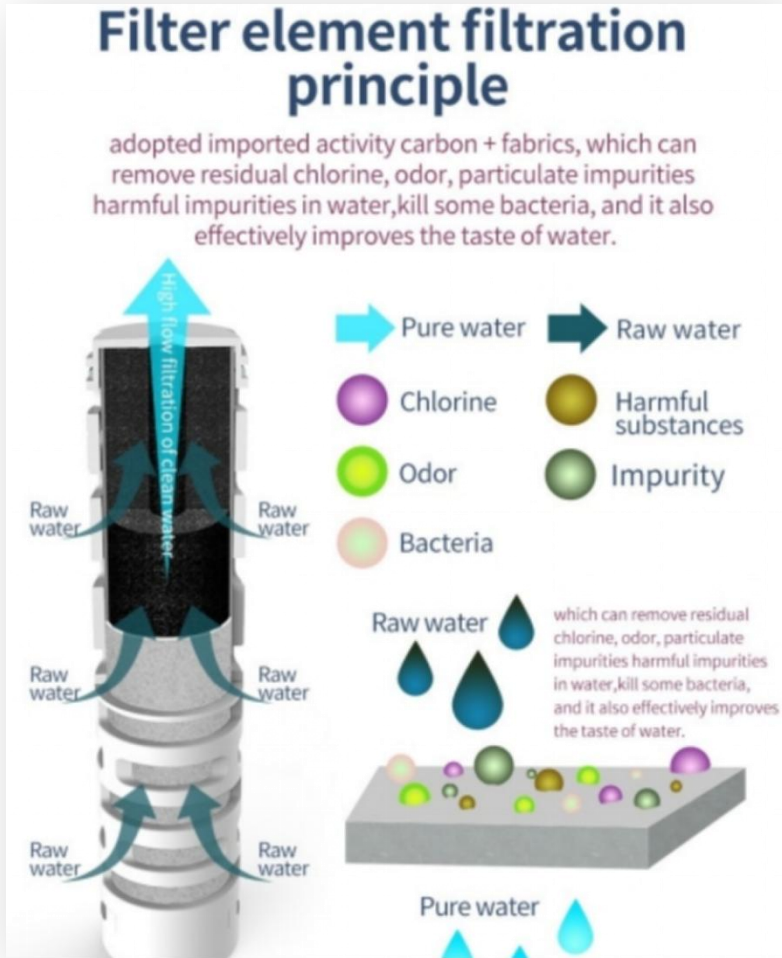

Food-grade Material

This water filter bottle is made of high-quality food-grade material and has the following characteristics:

- The nozzle part is made of soft material, which not only ensures the smooth drinking water, but also does not overflow and does not choking, which is very convenient.
- The bottle body is made of food-grade material, which is safe and hygienic, and can be used with confidence.
- The straw is equipped with a filtration device, which can effectively filter the impurities and odors in the water and ensure the pure taste of the drinking water.

Filter element effective filtration

Adopts activated carbon filter and ACF+Fabrics filtration principle, which can effectively filter the water source and remove residual chlorine, odor, granular impurities and harmful substances in the water. At the same time, the filter device can also kill some bacteria, effectively improve the taste of water, and bring you a purer and healthier drinking experience.

Appearance and place of use

This sports water bottle is available in a variety of colors, including grey, blue and pink. In addition, the temperature resistance range of this water cup is 5-60°, which can hold drinking water, juice, coffee, tea and other drinks, and can even be used under municipal water, which is very convenient and practical. Whether it's outdoor sports, fitness, travel or daily life, this water cup is the ideal choice for your healthy drinking water.

Advantages

Compared with other brands of filter elements with small flow, less functions and short service life, our water cup uses a larger and more powerful filter core, which has the following advantages:

- Larger flow: the flow of the filter core is larger, which can quickly filter the water source and provide you with a smoother drinking water experience.
- More powerful: Our filter core adopts advanced filtration technology, which can remove a variety of harmful substances in the water, such as residual chlorine, odors, granular impurities and harmful bacteria, etc., to make your drinking water purer and healthier.
- Longer service life: Because our filter core is larger and stronger, it has a longer service life and can protect your drinking water for a long time.
